There have been neither arrivals nor departures for foreign ports during the week, with the exception of the P M 8 S City of New York, which vessel turned up unexpectedly on Sunday morning, and took away between 400 and 500 tons of cargo.

The chief business feature of the week has been the sale of some valuable freeholds by auction. The old Hudson's Bay premises, corner of Queen and Fort streets, realized $22,000; a house lot on Maunakea-street, $530; ditto at Kakaako, $230; valuable building lots adjoining the Government Building, on King-street, $1300 and $1375 respectively; and lots at Lahains, $50, $550 and

The leasehold property at Manoa Valley, which was to have been sold at auction during the week, was with drawn, but will be offered on the 14th inst. Vessels and Exports from the Port of Honolulu, for the month ending March 31, 1881.

THE PACIFIC Commercial Adbertiser

SATURDAY, APRIL 2, 1881.

THE right or privilege of petition in these is lands, is at this time, to all appearances, questioned. A large number of respectable citizens and residents of this community, moved by the noblest spirit that can animate our human nature, a desire to rescue the erring and unfortunate; having signed a petition, giving an assurance, based upon general information, that the case of a fellow man condemned to be bung, deserves a farther and merciful consideration, are arraigned before a tribunal, cross examined in regard to all the information and motives that prompted their generous action, and are made to feel by the way in which they are summoned, the manner in which they have been interrogated, that they committed a wrong in making the appeal, and that the right of petition may become here an annoying, if not a dangerous privilege of a citizen to exercise.

Why shall justice, or rather the officers of law, look beyond this natural and noble expression of human sympathy and mercy, for some supposed concealed purpose or policy? When petitioners prayed our revered and noble hearted Princess Regent, that " the life of a fellow citizen be spared," what malignity of spirit can attribute to them the motive of considering only the question of race, with a view to its political effect? But such indeed are the views, the suspicions, and jealousies of political partisans in every community in the world. They endeavor to conceal their own manœuvres and policy, by a cunning attribution of motives to others.

It was proper, and indeed called for, that petitioners who had given an assurance that there are mitigating circumstances " now better understood than at the time of the trial" of the commned man, should be invited to assist the advisers of the Crown, to acquire a better understanding of the case; so that if reasonable and possible, all officials concerned might be relieved from the sad and execrable duty of strangling a fellow being. And it would be reasonably supposed, that all officials, having any responsibility or duty in the matter, would hail with gladness the slightest assurance that there was an opportunity for the exercise of mercy.

But it is not proper, and it is uncalled for, that these petitioners for mercy shall be summoned and arraigned and cross questioned singly. like wrong doers; and especially so by officials: who on the street and elsewhere, have challenged influences that led them to sign a plea and | the remotest corner of the globe. prayer for a man's life.

We advocated enquiry into the case of the convict Polua, although we never originated, as alledged, the movement in his behalf. We regret to say, we cannot claim that honor. The condemned man is an Hawaiian, in the middle prime of life, and vouched for as a quiet and industrious worker. In the midst of his labors and duties an old friend, accompanied by his daughter, pay him a visit. The girl and Polua become attached; and when father and daughter are returning home; the girl deserts her parent on the way, in order to join her lover. A young rival attempts to disturb the peace of Polua; for a while in vain. But after a time, the girl yields and deserts | return commission ; of which you made her old lover. She returns, confesses, and is restored. She is tempted away again, and now braves out ner infldelity by mocking her old lover within his hearing and observation. He is jeered by his comrades and neighbors. He is maddened; life becomes a torment; he refuses food and rest, and in this state of mind, he slays the girl and makes a determined effort to take his own life. He does the killing openly, in the presence of witnesses. He will not kill the rival, for fear he would accompany the beloved one to a better world, he drapes his house in mourning, and pours out a libation of praised perfumes around his couch, so that his cause" shall be his love's, shall be offered up as a sacrifice. The dying girl, with her breast gashed open. gasped forth these last few words : " Aole mea e bana make i'au, wau wale no." No one killed me, I alone did it. Alas, poor creature! were she living, and of the same mind, in which she died, and if we may suppose that Polua was now condemned to die for an intended murder; she would have been a foremost one to have signed this petition, and would no doubt have been arraigned and questioned to give her reasons for praying for a merciful consideration in behalf of consecrated, and his blood blended with that of her once agonized, and then demented lover. Who can see in this mad, overwhelming, destructive spirit of aroused and tormented passion, the malice prepense of the felon murderer, who slays for plunder, for revenge, or to remove some hated obstruction? And who, after such an agony, and such a self expiation, and immolation, will seek with a bangman's spirit and bloodhound's relish to put the felon cord around the neck of a poor ignorant victim of overwhelming passion and misfortune, and strive to lift him up, whom God had spared, as a writhing and dangling outrage on humanity? We trust that any spirit, or policy that would make a football of human life in the promotion of policy will be rebuked. We take our stand for this man's life, if not for his liberty. We count nothing more precious in this world than a human life. We have, we believe, as enlightened appreciation of the work of the world; yet material progress, and all its proud spoil and glory, are as trash to our mind, when weighed against the poorest and meanest life of this Kingdom. There- Thursday, 7th instant, between the hours of 3 fore we honor the petitioners, who interposed their names and voices in behalf of the life of a fellow man, and their action will be approved by the enlightened and generous of the world. THE Gazette says that the statement published by a cotemporary, that the uniform of Col. Wm. N. Armstrong, our Royal Commissioner of Emigration, cost $700 is "absolutely" untrue, (and he has been waiting for "six weeks" to deny the state-THE GOVERNMENT WELL AT MAKINI. - Work at ment;) as it only cost $150. IRISH and Portuguese are not desired in this country, because they are Roman Catholics. Such is the view entertained on the eighth page of the Friend, of April 1, edited by the Young Men's Christian Association of Honolulu, in the following words: "Norway and Sweden had better be drawn from at public expense, than the Pacific Islands or the insular dependencies of Portugal, or any other Roman Catholic country. This question of what class of citizens will immigrants make hereafter, is of far greater importance than the immediate one of fitness for working on sugar plantations. Every true friend of Hawaii. will look at this important matter in this light and not simply for present needs. As domestic servants these North of Europe people are very highly valued in the United States, much to the disgust of the hitherto imperious Irish.'

We are astonished that this Association | Ah Sun, with its worthy objects and endeavors should raise national and religious issues in connection with our great question of repopulation, and especially when there is nothing in the experience of this country to warrant such invidious national discriminations. The Portuguese are the best foreign population, as settlers, that this country has received; and the energy and enterprise of the Irish have made a mark, that ought to silence the faintest insulting allusion to their nationality. And if we consider their religion, we must say that King Kalakaua has abundant reasons for regarding his Roman Catholic subjects, as among the most industrious, law-abiding, and loyal of His People. Therefore young gentlemen, and friends, of the Young Men's Christian Association of Honolulu, withdraw or correct your invidious reflections on Irish, Portuguese, and Roman Catholics.

THE Friend, is we are authoritatively informed in error in regard to its information to the effect "that the Postmaster General of U.S. at Washington has addressed a letterto the Hawaiian Government intimating that the present existing treaty between this Government and the U.S. Government must cease at the end of six months." Our postal convention with the United States will continue in force. The only matter in question is in reference to the transit overland of our mails, to other foreign countries.

However we begin to think with our highly esteemed Friend, that it is about time for Hawaii to wake up to a consideration of her postal arrangements with distant countries. Correspondence is a great enlightener, and one of the chief elements of a high civilization; and as this whole community, native as well as foreign, are frequent them in arrogant and offensive tone; and with a letter-writers, let us have the amplest marked exhibition of temper, have demanded facilities that can be acquired to promote their reasons, their motives, and the suspected our correspondance and our business with

> No, that was not it. The discovery was the division of spoils, of an unwarranted commission on planters' produce, between confederates in San Francisco and Honolulu. You have never explained away that the disclosure.

COURT NEWS.

Her Majesty the Queen accompanied by His Excellency Mr. Carter the Minister of the Interior, Her Excellency Kekaulike Governess of Hawaii, Mrs. Poloku, and Hon. John M. Kapena visited the small-pox hospital, on Kahakaaulana reef, on Saturday the 26th ult.

Queen Kapiolani conversed with some of the unfortunate sufferers at the hospital; she presented some kind and gracious offerings of royal smypathy: some flowers and ferns. (palapalai). dear to the native tastes; and Her Majesty expressed her satisfaction on observing the bountiful supply of food, and other necessaries required by the patients at the hospital.

On this occasion a letter written by her Royal Highness, the Princess Regent in the Hawaiian language, and addressed to the patients, was read to them, a translation of which, as published in the Elele Poakolu, is subjoined.

"My Friends:-1 send you the expression of my warm love and deep commiseration in your afflic tion; you who are sufferers from the epidemic which has of late caused, and still continues to cause so much auxiety in our community. I feel that this is a dreadful visitation upon us, and more especially is it saddening to myself in this the beginning of my imperfect endeavors to guide the affairs of our Government.

" From the moment since the disease made its first appearance amongst us, my thoughts have anxiously dwelt upon the question as to how far its ravages might extend; and the government has devoted to the fullest, its means and energies in the effort to mitigate the sufferinge of the poor, and to so control the contagion, that it should not become widely spread amongst our

TEMPERANCA.—Considering the brief and somewhat limited notice given, there was a conday evening last, of both ladies and gentlemen, to consider some plan for a temperance organization in this city. The Rev. Dr. Hyde was called to the chair and Mr. T. G. Thrum chosen Secretary. Brief addresses on the the desirability of a combination of effort in behalf of temperance in this community, were made by the Rev. Drs. Damon and Hyde, Rev. S. E. Bishop, Dr. Whitney, Capt. Babcock, Mr. Blackburn and Mr. Kinney, after which a committee on permanent organization was appointed, consisting of Messrs, Thrum, Whitney and Jones, and Mesdames Dickson and S. M. Damon, the committee to report at a meeting to be held this (Saturday) evening, April 2, at 71/2 o'clock, at the Fort Street Church. Every one who has witnessed the evils of intemperance either here or elsewhere, must heartily wish success to a movement that has for its declared object a social reform in this direction, and we shall note with interest the progress of this new organization

The undesirability of sending any persons dying of small-pox to the burial place on the reef. except those who should die in the hospital there having been represented to the Marshal, interments of those who die in the town or suburbs are now made at Makiki, unless the distance be too great, in which case the bodies are buried in the immediate neighborhood of their late homes.

There is some fear that, as many ignorant men have to be employed in connection with the prevailing epidemic, as guards etc., some of them, now that they have beaome familiar with the sight of the disease, are growing careless as to the risks they run for themselves and cause to We have heard repeatedly of lifts being given to friends by the drivers of the small-pox vans, and of guards entering the premises they are set to watch over, and even taking their meals in the houses of quarantined persons. These are matters that require sharp looking into.

THE UPRISING OF CHINESE COOLIE IMMIGRANTS ON BOARD THE STEAMSHIP LYDIA IN HONOLULU HARBOR, -We gave in our issue of the 26th ult. some statement in relation to the out-break and riot on board the Lydia; and we now subjoin some more circumstantial particulars stated by Captain Paulsen in command; " My passengers (700 Chinese Coolies) behaved quietly on the 25th instant, and I did not expect any trouble. Towards evening they all came on deck to pray in their heathenish manner, which RACING STOCK I was told indicated danger. Soon after, a Chinese steward informed me that the passengers had sworn to murder us all during the night. This was confirmed by a passenger. I then sent to the Consul for assistance. About three hours afterwards some policemen came alongside in a boat, but were bombarded by the Chinamen with stones, etc., and had to retire. Thereupon the Chinamen attacked my crew on the forecastle, but were repulsed by the brave defence of my men. About sixteen of the crew, who had served their time in the German army, fought for their and our lives, and managed to drive them back. With our assistance all the Chinamen were forced down in the hold and the hatches closed upon them. The deck was covered with ballast stones, and lumber, broken from the berths. Large iron nails lay scattered about and everywhere traces of the foregoing fight. As soon as the Chinamen were secured down below, and everything safe, the policemen came on board and the soldiers alongside." The Captain seems to think that the assistance rendered him was both tardy and inadequate. There can be no doubt however that the pistol shots fired by those who first went off to the steamer, when they found them selves attacked with stones and other missiles, created a panic among the Chinese, who ran below and anywhere for shelter. Probably this confusion was mistaken by the crew for an intended attack on the forecastle, and accounts for the ease with which the Chinese were immediately afterwards made prisoners in the hold. The first party that went off retired, after exhausting their ammunition, because they could get no replies from the officers or crew to their repeated hails, and because it was impossible to board the vessel without appliances-the companion ladder having been drawn up. The Gazette says that "eighty of the late (Chinese) importations are reported to be pirates by profession. They will have a clear field, as that line of business has been left unworked up to the present by our own people." A cheerful outlook, for parties, or planters, who are anxious siderable gathering at the Bethel vestry on Satur- | to employ laborers, and who must take these comers, as they can get them, without selection, THE UNDERSIGNED gives notice that a BLACK out of quarantine.

MERCY!

"How would you be, If HE, which is the top of judgment, should But judge as you do? O, think on that; And mercy then will breath within your lips, Like man new made !"

"The greatest attribute of Heaven is mercy;

And 'tis the crown of justice, and the glory, Where it may kill with right, to save with · Though justice be thy plea, consider this-

That in the course of justice, none of us Should see salvation ; we do pray for mercy And that same prayer doth teach us all to render The deeds of mercy."

But God will never." Great minds erect their never failing trophies, On the firm base of mercy.'

"Man may dismiss compassion from his heart,
